Conflict Minerals Policy

General Motors is committed to sustainable and responsible sourcing of goods and services throughout our supply chain. GM supports the human rights goals reflected in the adoption of conflict mineral due diligence requirements included in the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010. GM has a zero tolerance policy against the use of child labor, and prohibits abusive treatment to employees and corrupt business practices in our supply base.

Through industry collaboration, GM has adopted a common methodology to obtain chain of custody declarations from suppliers to increase the transparency of conflict minerals in our global supply chain. GM has been an active contributor within the Automotive Industry Action Group (AIAG) in developing an automotive industry wide approach to reporting the use of conflict minerals, and educating suppliers about their roles and responsibilities.

We require our suppliers to engage in supply chain due diligence to improve understanding and reporting of component content supplied to GM. Further, we encourage our suppliers to source responsibly with validated conflict free smelters, wherever possible, to increase our level of confidence that the components in our vehicles and products contain conflict free minerals. We recognize that our sourcing decisions may cause economic consequences in impacted regions and seek to avoid inadvertent adverse economic impact attributable to conflict mineral due diligence activities.
